Description du produit :

HDMI protective clamp for the Canon C70 includes the two-parted main clamp, responsible for keeping the plug of your cable in place and the mounting bracket the user has to attach at the bottom of the cage and then attaches the main clamp to it. Most importantly, the product prevents your cable from being accidentally disconnected. It also keeps the HDMI cable in place while protecting the plug and port from being damaged. Carefully designed around the ports compartment. The silver part of the main clamp is adjustable to the cable's plus size.
